The 154 mile long Okeechobee waterway extends from the Atlantic Ocean at Stuart Florida, to the Gulf of Mexico at Ft. Myers, Florida. The Okeechobee Waterway runs through Lake Okeechobee and is made up of two rivers the Caloosahatchee River to the west of the lake and the St. Lucie Canal east of the lake. The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers South Florida Operations Office (SFOO) manages and operates 5 navigation locks and dams along the Okeechobee Waterway. This is an exciting passage for boaters!

The Okeechobee Waterway meets the Gulf Intracoastal Waterway at Fort Myers. The ICW from here to Longboat Key is a favorite destination for boaters and fishermen alike.

The crystal clear waters and laid back ports of call from Fort Myers through Pine Island Sound and Charlotte Harbor offer spectacular cruising.

After the excitement of the Okeechobee Waterway our goal is to unwind and relax. There's no better place to do that than Cabbage Key. Reachable only by boat this perfect little island is home to the bar that claims to have inspired Jimmy Buffet's "Cheeseburger in Paradise". Other stops include Sanibel and Captiva Islands with their pristine shell-filled beaches, charming Punta Gorda and sophisticated Sarasota.
