

Suggested Cruising Itinerary: Penobscot Bay, Blue Hill Bay, Acadia, Maine
(7 Nights, 8 Days)

Day One: Settle into your quarters on Lady Catherine docked in the beautiful harbor town of Camden, Maine. Enjoy lunch served on the aft deck before going ashore to stroll the pretty seaside village. When you're ready we'll depart on our first cruise, a short one hour trip to Pulpit Harbor, on the island of North Haven. As we glide into the nearly hidden harbor guarded by an osprey nest then drop anchor for the night you'll feel a world away. Cocktails and dinner will be served on the aft deck where you'll be entertained by the beautiful schooners as they drop anchor to join us in this very special anchorage. We'll salute your first night on board by firing the ship's cannon at sunset.

Day Two: Cruise up Penobscot Bay, passing Isleboro where wealthy Bostonians have enjoyed their grand summer homes for six generations. Arrive Castine late morning and head to shore for lunch and time to stroll this inviting little town full of historical landmarks, gracious colonial homes and interesting shops. We'll spend the night on a mooring alongside the village or anchor out around the corner in beautiful, isolated Smith Cove.

Day Three: We'll depart in the morning for a cruise down Eggemoggin Reach, a special waterway wedged between the mainland and Deer Island with magnificent views on either side. WoodenBoat fans may elect to stop for lunch and exploration at the scenic WoodenBoat headquarters and school in Brooklin. Another hour cruise will bring us to beautiful Buckle Harbor on Swan's Island. After a dinghy ride ashore to explore you'll dine on the aft deck watching the schooners slide by. Admire the spectacular Mount Desert skyline as the sun sets.

Day Four: Our cruise today leads us to Northeast Harbor, one of Maine's major yachting centers. Once there relax on Lady Catherine and watch the sites in this busy harbor shared by working lobstermen and wealthy city dwellers with impressive yachts, their summer homes here passed down thru five or six generations. Lunch or dinner ashore depending on how you want to spend the day – hiking one of the Acadia National Park trails, visiting the shops and galleries or touring the formal gardens high on the hillside overlooking the harbor.

Days Five & Six

A short cruise up Somes Sound in Acadia will be a trip you'll remember your whole life. The only natural fjord on the Atlantic seaboard we'll cruise between sheer cliffs that plunge into the deep water, ending in peaceful little Somes Harbor where we'll drop anchor for the night. From there you can kick back and spend the day on the yacht or grab a bus to any of the Acadia trails or Bar Harbor.

The next day we'll cruise back down Somes Sound and tie up at Cranberry Island, perhaps the sweetest island community in Maine. Walk the quiet scenic streets, visit the tiny museum then head to lunch for a lobster fresh off the boat! Dinner on Lady Catherine with spectacular views of the mountains and sunset.

Day Seven: In the morning we'll cruise to Long Island, a very remote and very wonderful place to visit. Half the island is owned by Rockefeller family and undeveloped. The independent island community of Frenchboro is home to only two dozen islanders, primarily lobstermen. Beautiful trails lead thru the forest to hidden coves, rocky cliffs and secluded beaches.

Day Eight: It's a short cruise back to Camden. We'll stop for lunch anchored among the magnificent rocky islands of Merchant Row. Unsurpassed in beauty, these islands are only accessible by private yacht. Mid afternoon return to Camden.
